The screenshot shows the Visual Studio for Mac Community interface. The window title is "Visual Studio Community 2017 for Mac". The interface includes a search bar at the top right with the placeholder text "Press '%.' to search". On the left, there is a "Get Started" section with three links: "Discover what's new in Visual Studio for Mac", "Get up to speed with .NET Core", and "Learn about Mobile Development with Xamarin". Below this is a "Recent" section with a "Filter" input field and two project entries: "aspnet_mac" and "TesteWebForms". At the bottom of the "Recent" section are "New Project..." and "Open..." buttons. On the right, there is a "Sign in..." link and two links: "Report a Problem" and "Provide a Suggestion". The main content area on the right displays a list of news items, including "Application Insights support for Microservices and Containers", "Glimpse the Future of Xamarin Forms 3.0", "Dear DocumentDB customers, welcome to Azure Cosmos DB!", "Unity game development with Visual Studio for Mac", "All Things Mobile at Microsoft Build", and "Announcing Application Insights Profiler for Azure App Service now generally available". Each news item includes a date and a link to "Find more news at The Visual Studio Blog".
